

About this website

What I want to do with this website is to show you Desenzano del Garda and it's surroundings with the eyes of someone who has been there. I want to give you the feeling that you are in a guided tour and all information you get is built upon personal experience. If I talk about a hotel, I have slept in that hotel myself, If I talk about a Restaurant, I have personally dined there.

I might put in a few stories from my friends (which will be clearly stated when that is done) which I personally trust and would invite to my home, so only to add to the variety. But it will all be personal opinions based upon a personal real experiences written out with fairness as the guiding light. Not based upon who pays me most in advertising fees or how much I was annoyed that night or I need more material so I'll blunder something out regarding this. If it isn't real, it isn't here. You get the picture? It is like my personal diary of Desenzano and the Lake Garda.

I hope you get some valuable information from here, or at the least some entertainment. Best regards,
H. Jonsson
